Eyes Forward: Staying Focused as 2026 Dawns

by Jake Joseph

As a new year dawns, there is something about January that invites reflection—and resolve. Fresh calendars, fresh goals, fresh intentions. But if we are honest, the real challenge is not starting strong; it is staying focused. Distractions are nothing new. In fact, they have been around as long as humanity itself. But in today's world—especially in aviation, where precision, discipline, and awareness matter deeply—we understand better than most just how dangerous distractions can be.

On December 29, 1972, Eastern Airlines Flight 401 was on approach into Miami. A small indicator light failed to illuminate, and the flight crew became fixated on troubleshooting what they believed was a landing gear problem. While their attention was locked inside the cockpit, the aircraft slowly descended unnoticed. The result was catastrophic. Out of 176 souls on board, only 75 survived. One small distraction had devastating consequences.

A Drifting Focus

That tragedy led to changes in aviation that have saved countless lives. But it also serves as a sobering metaphor for our spiritual lives. When our focus drifts (even slightly) from what matters most, the consequences can be far greater than we realize. Scripture reminds us of this reality. In Luke 10, Martha is busy doing good things—serving, preparing, working—yet Jesus lovingly points out that she has become “worried and troubled about many things.” Mary, on the other hand, chose the better portion: sitting at the feet of Jesus, listening, being present. Both loved Him. Both desired to serve Him. But only one kept her focus where it truly belonged.

As we step into 2026, this is a question worth asking ourselves: Are we so busy doing things for Jesus that we have stopped spending time with Him?

Peter experienced something similar in Matthew 14. He stepped out of the boat in faith and did the impossible (walking on water) until he shifted his focus. The moment he fixed his eyes on the wind and the waves instead of Jesus, fear took over, and he began to sink. The lesson is clear—even when we are doing great things, taking our eyes off Christ can cause us to falter.

The Peril of Distractions

Some distractions come in the form of doubt and discouragement. Voices whisper, “You are not enough,” “God will not come through,” or “This season is too hard.” Yet God's Word speaks louder. “Fear not, for I have redeemed you; I have called you by name; you are mine” (Isaiah 43:1). As He promised Joshua, He promises us: “I will never leave you nor forsake you.” When we do God's will in God's way with God's help, nothing can stand in the way of what He intends.

Not all distractions, however, are destructive. Some are deliberate—and divine.

In Exodus 3:1-4 Moses was tending sheep on an ordinary day when God used a burning bush to get his attention. In Acts 9:3-4 Saul was traveling with harmful intent when a blinding light from heaven stopped him in his tracks. In both cases, God disrupted their plans to redirect their purpose. Sometimes the Lord allows interruptions not to derail us, but to realign us.

Jesus Himself modeled how to handle distractions (Matthew 19:13-15). Children, crowds, interruptions—He didn't see them as inconveniences. He saw them as opportunities to save the lost. In Acts 16:29-32, Paul and Silas did the same. What looked like a mission-ending jail sentence became the very place where a jailer and his household came to faith.

Remaining Focused in a Distracted World

So how do we stay focused in a distracted world? Hebrews tells us to “make straight paths for your feet.” Daniel refused to be distracted—even by good things—when they pulled him away from obedience. Paul pressed forward, refusing to live in the past, always reaching toward what lay ahead in Christ.

As FCAPers, we know what it means to keep our eyes up, to stay mission-focused, and to trust the flight instruments when visibility is low. The same is true spiritually. Psalm 66 reminds us that our lives are in His hands, and He keeps our feet from stumbling.

As 2026 dawns, may we be a people who walk by faith, not by sight. May we resist the dangerous distractions that pull us from Christ, remain open to the divine interruptions that draw us closer to Him, and keep our eyes fixed on Jesus, the Author and Perfecter of our faith. Let us stay focused. Let us trust God with what is ahead. And let us move forward together, eyes up, hearts steady, and faith firmly engaged.

FELLOWSHIP OF CHRISTIAN AIRLINE PERSONNEL

"If I ride the morning winds to the farthest oceans, even there Your hand will guide me, Your strength will support me."
Psalm 139:9-10

EXCITING OPPORTUNITIES AWAIT US IN 2026!

LEARN MORE AND REGISTER

Our FCAP Fellowship Groups in Kenya and Uganda have been working hard in planning this event. In addition to time together in fellowship at a beautiful conference center, together in going deeper into God's Word, and together in prayer, they are also planning an excursion day on a safari and an onsite visit with a partner ministry, AIM Air, also located in Kenya. Please prayerfully consider being a part of this week-long conference. Again, the dates are April 7-11, 2026.

Even if you cannot attend, there are other ways you can be a part of this event:

- Pray
- Donate financially to help others attend

EAA AirVenture OSHKOSH July 20-26, 2026

If you love aviation and have never experienced this event, it is well worth the time and effort. FCAP is privileged to once again be looking forward to representation there as a ministry ... this time in two locations, one being the IAMA Tent and the second being in Hanger D. This means we are needing even more support to make it happen:

- Volunteer to be a part of our team for the week, or a portion thereof.
- Give financially toward ministry expenses for the event.
- Pray as we connect there with airline/aviation personnel and enthusiasts, Christians and non-Christians alike.

ESTABLISHING STUDENT FCAP CHAPTERS

AVIATION SCHOOL OUTREACH

Goal: To help prepare students entering the aviation workplace for the mission field God has before them.

JOIN OUR TEAM!

- Pray
- Donate
- Join our team on a school visit to personally spend time with and encourage these students

There are additional opportunities to help with summer VBS programs designed specifically for kids interested in aviation.

Your prayer support and financial gifts help to make this ministry possible!
